To whom it may concern,

As the Vice President of Mizuho Bank Ltd. in Seoul branch, it is a pleasure for me to recommend Mr. Xiang Shang for his graduate admission. In my short period of time co-working with Mr. Xiang Shang, he has impressed me a lot with his fast-learning abilities, talented programming skills and creative thinking.

I met Mr. Xiang Shang for the first time at October 2020. I had to transfer from Singapore, where I had worked for 5 years, back to my own branch in Seoul due to the end of contract. While I was in Singapore, I developed the Robotic Automation Tool to simulate HTTP protocol in order to directly interact with our bank's internal systems and servers. I built the scripts in PHP, a programming language which I believe Mr. Xiang Shang has never learnt before. However, after an introduction of my projects and one week of self-study, Xiang Shang already understood the whole concepts and mastered all the skills necessary for the project. His strong learning abilities and talents in programming made me gratified because I know he will take good care of my projects after I transferred back to Seoul. Even now I am living in Seoul, I am still keeping in touch with him and, as far as I know, now he is building some extensions on the project in Python which I believe is his preferred language.

Mr. Xiang Shang possesses outstanding capabilities in working and learning new skills, which I believe will also be well applied in his graduate study. There are admirable contributions he made to our company which demonstrated how talented himself as an individual, so I can imagine he will also be outstanding in his graduate learning. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely yours,

Ham Dong Kyun
